The Passion of Jesus

The Passion Foretold

Following the confession by Peter that Jesus is the Messiah, at the high point of Mark's Gospel (8:29), there are three teachings on the passion (each following by an instance of resistance to the cross and humility):

1. 8:31-33—followed by Peter protesting to Jesus
2. 9:30-32—followed by the apostles arguing about their own importance
3. 10:32-34—followed by James and John jockeying for position

There are, in all, five occasions recorded when Jesus spoke of his death and resurrection:

1. After Peter's confession—Matthew 16:21; Mark 8:31; Luke 9:22
2. After the transfiguration—Matthew 17:9, 12; Mark 9:9, 12
3. After healing the epileptic—Luke 9:44
4. While passing through Galilee—Matthew 17:22-23; Mark 9:9, 12
5. Near Jerusalem—Matthew 20:17-19; Mark 10:32-34; Luke 18:31-33

Ordinary Time

Ordinary Time is the name given to the thirty-three or thirty-four weeks (depending upon Easter) in the course of the year apart from Advent/Christmas and Lent/Triduum/Easter. Ordinary Time is that part of the liturgical year when no particular moment or aspect of the Christian mystery is celebrated.

Sponsor

Candidates for Confirmation, as for Baptism, need the spiritual help of a sponsor. This person must be an active, fully initiated member of the Church. In light of the unity of the two sacraments, one of the baptismal godparents is appropriate as a confirmation sponsor.

The Three Valid Methods of Baptism

1. Aspersion (sprinkling): Used only in exceptional circumstances.
2. Infusion (pouring): A practice already in the first century, according to The Didache. Paul was baptized in a private house (Acts 9:17-18), and Peter baptized his jailer's family presumably still in prison area (Acts 16:33). Many have concluded that these baptisms and others were done either by sprinkling or pouring, since no river or stream is mentioned, and since pool/tubs were rare among those who were poor.
3. Immersion (dipping or plunging): Generally used in the early Church, common in the Eastern Church and certain Protestant traditions; since Vatican II, permissible in the Latin Rite.
