Musical Patron

St. Cecilia was a third-century Roman martyr. We are left with little more than enduring legends about her life. While still a young girl, Cecilia dedicated her virginity to God. When forced by her family to marry, she converted her husband, and the two vowed celibacy. One legend tells of “pipes” played at her wedding. Although these pipes were probably bagpipes common throughout Europe. St. Cecilia has often been portrayed near a pipe organ. Legend calls her “the inventor of the organ,” while another says an angel fell in love with her because of her musical skills. This heavenly visitant gave both her and her husband a crown of martyrdom, brought from heaven. With such ample fable and long-standing tradition, she is considered the patron of music and musicians.

Relics:

Relics are objects associated with saints:

- First Class designates an actual body or part of a body (for example, the tongue of St. Anthony, preserved at his shrine in Padua).
- Second Class is an article of clothing or some other article used by a saint.
- Third Class is any object touched to a first class relic.

The Church as House of God

The Catechism of the Catholic Church also teaches (#1186). “Finally, the church has an eschatological significance. To enter into the house of God, we must cross a threshold, which symbolizes passing from the world wounded by sin to the world of the new Life to which men are called. The visible church is a symbol of the Father’s house toward which the People of God is journeying and where the Father ‘will wipe every tear from their eyes.’”

Requirements of the Gift of & Call to Christian Unity

1. An ongoing renewal of the Church
2. Conversions of heart among Catholics
3. Prayer in common
4. Accurate and caring knowledge of each other
5. Ecumenical formation of the faithful, especially the priests
6. Dialogue among theologians and meetings among Christians
7. Collaboration among Christians in various areas of human service
