Reflection:

In today's Gospel Reading, when Jesus gives the answer to a question that the scholar didn't ask, He makes clear that the second-greatest commandment is very important. Reflect for a moment on the Ten Commandments: out of the ten, the first three are about loving your God, and the latter seven are about loving your neighbor. Why are there more than twice as many commands about "loving your neighbor" than there are about "loving your God"? It's not because loving your neighbor is twice as important as loving your God. More likely, it because loving your neighbor is twice as difficult as loving your God. The English writer G. K. Chesterton once observed that "The Bible tells us to love our neighbors, and also to love our enemies; probably because they are generally the same people!"
